IDA President and CEO Joe Oliver to address The Canadian Club of Toronto

Since its creation 90 years ago, the IDA has regulated the business conduct and financial condition of Canadian investment dealers. In recent years, due to profound changes in Canadian capital markets, the IDA has transformed itself – both literally and figuratively – into an innovative, technologically advanced front-line self-regulator whose top priority continues to be protecting investors from coast to coast. IDA President Joe Oliver will talk about the way the IDA has evolved in recent years, including the recent proposal to consolidate the IDA and RS Inc.
